VILLA VIEWS

This unusual January weather that we have experienced this year has just thrown my natural instincts into a cocked hat. I am just perishing to do some canning and start my spring housecleaning. Needless to say, there's just nothing to can, and there probably won't be this summer.

If I'm all thrown off, just think of all of those poor mixed up fruit trees. It's just getting so they don't know what time of the year to bloom. We have one psychotic flowering peach on the street that decided to go into full bloom in December. The owners have called in a tree psychiatrist, but so far he hasn't gotten to the root of the problem! The man who wrote June in January must have lived in Southern California.

THE KINNELOA Mesa Association met last Thursday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Rand Lewis at 3170 Mesa Loa Lane. This was their annual election meeting and the new officers are Mr. Richard English, president; Dr. John Evans, vice president; Mr. E. L. Rucks, treasurer, and Mrs. Laurence Dietzel, secretary. The Board includes Mr. Gene Burt, Mrs. Ward Clark, Mr. Arthur Gebhart, Mr. Robert Grange and Mr. Walter Opp. The appointed offices have not been announced as yet.

MR. AND MRS. Arturo Gutierrez of 3265 Fairpoint were happy to welcome Mrs. Gutierrez' sister, Mrs. Jose Madrigal, who arrived here from Leon, Mexico, for a vacation. She brought her 13-year-old daughter, Marcia, with her and Marcia will attend school at the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary and stay with the Gutierrez family till the end of the school term. Mrs. Madrigal will be here several weeks and many activities are being planned in her honor. Senor Madrigal will be up later for a brief visit and return home with his wife.

I TALKED to Mrs. W. F. McComas of 1536 Sierra Madre Villa (SY. 4-9410). She is chairman of our local voting precinct which covers the city area from Fairpoint south. She is in great need of a home for the two elections which come on June 3 and Nov. 4 and would appreciate any volunteers. It is preferable that the room have an outside entrance with an adjoining or convenient bath. If you feel civic minded, call her before this weekend.

MRS. NEAL Batterson of 3127 Doyne Road is having 12 friends in for a luncheon and canasta party to honor Mrs. Wayne Furstenberger. Mrs. Batterson tells me that she recently became a grandmother. Her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Batterson, had a baby girl, Cynthia Lynn, on Dec. 20. The young Battersons just recently moved from our area into their present home at 712 Fremont.

MRS. KARL Dietzel of 2155 Meyer Loa Lane gave a birthday dinner for her husband last Friday evening. The guests included Mrs. Eleanore Dietzel, Mrs. Alice Wimmer, Mr. George Wimmer and Miss Beverly Johnson.

I JUST learned that Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Crandall of 1500 Old House Road and, I might add, friends of the entire neighborhood, have just recently sold their home to Dr. and Mrs. Lincoln Wilson. The Wilsons have been property owners on the street for some time, but decided that they would not build on their lot for the present time. We are all looking forward to their arrival, but we are equally sad to lose the Crandalls, who have bought a small house at 380 San Juan Place.

MRS. ROBERT Griswold and Mr. and Mrs. Paul de-Benedictis threw a surprise luau on Mr. Griswold at their Sierra Madre Villa home.

Hastings Teen Times

Linda Dittberner | Doug Dexter | Sherry Donahue

By Pat Smith
ELgin 5-1903

Doug Dexter was elected president of Wilson student body Friday. This is Doug's second term. A few of the things he plans to do in the following semester are "further school activities, set a good example, promote more school spirit and represent Wilson in school affairs."

* * *

LINDA DITTBERNER is our new vice president. She hopes to "have a litterbug campaign in the near future which will be presented through Student Council. I hope it will arouse a deep interest on the part of the student body which will keep the campus clean not only during the campaign but during the rest of the year. Most of all, I hope that every member of Student Council will contribute all their ideas to make it a great semester."

* * *

SHERRY DONAHUE is our new student body secretary. She hopes she can do as good a job as Wendy Finkinbinder did this semester.

Others who will take office at the beginning of the new semester are entertainment, Harriet Beegle; publications, Pat Smith, safety, Mike Couch; hospitality, Linda Smallman; boys activities, Joe Signorino; girls activities, Susan Hubley; 10th counselor, Tony Chaikin; 9th counselor, Joan Zeman; 8th counselor, Susie Ballard; 7th counselor, Chet Osborn.

For the next few weeks I will run pictures and goals of all above listed officers.

Dale Wilson Has Seventh Birthday Party

A score of small fry were on hand to help Dale Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Wilson, Hastings Ranch Rd., celebrate his seventh birthday with a party at Hamilton Park.

They played games, had lunch and admired the birthday cake complete with train, tunnel, and a little replica of the honor guest looking on.

Mothers' March on Polio Set From 7-9 p.m. Jan. 28

To further research on the several strains of polio virus and to continue rehabilitation of those stricken with the disease before the advent of the Salk vaccine, mothers will again march this year in a house-to-house canvass for funds. The "march" is set between 7 and 9 p.m. Jan. 28.

Mrs. Ben Barth, chairman of the Eugene Field area of the drive, has asked householders to leave their porch lights on for the volunteer workers who will call, but added that workers are being instructed to call at each house whether or not the light is on.

Among her volunteer lieutenants will be Mrs. John Atkinson, Mrs. Santo Jandegian, Mrs. Willard Olwin, Mrs. John Kane, Mrs. Arthur Krausse, Mrs. Skipper Rosker, Mrs. Wexelberg, Mrs. Mary Diaz, Mrs. Vincent Cuellar, Mrs. David Bruce and Mrs. Don Lingren. Between 50 and 60 block workers will cover the area.

Pasadena Chapter of Women's American ORT Program Jan. 25

The Regina Trilling (Pasadena) Chapter of Women's American ORT will sponsor the ORT "Pop Concert" the evening of Jan. 25 in San Marino Woman's Clubhouse.

The program will be presented by members of the music department at Pasadena City College and will include musical selections devoted to the evolution of jazz. Interpreting music from the various historical periods will be talented young persons from the "Hi-Liters."

THE MADRIGAL singers of Pasadena City College, under the direction of David O. Thorsen, will present a specially arranged group of folk songs in a costumed setting.

Included in the over-all program will be appropriate selections by the "Hi-Liter" Band, rated among the most versatile and talented of collegiate studio bands.

The show will be narrated by Tom Hageman and the musical direction will be under Robert Fleury, chairman, from the music department at Pasadena City College.

THE PROCEEDS from this musical evening will be used toward materias and machinery for ORT's 300 schools in 20 countries on five continents.

ORT, the Organization for Rehabilitation Through Training, is the largest private non-sectarian vocational agency in the world, receiving support not only from individual goverments, but from the United Nations and Ford Foundation. Although the major activity of ORT is on the secondary school level, the program today includes the training of three generations in the necessary skills of various countries.

Refreshments will be served following the program. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. A. Zarem at RYan 1-5542 or Mrs. Sam Rudnisk at SYcamore 5-6291.

Peggy Jo Bigelow, Field sixth grader in San Gabrel Valley Hospital to lose a troublesome appendix, found her roommate to be none other than Mrs. Flora Goodell, grandmother of classmate Barbara Shanks. Mrs. Goodell suffered a broken bone in a fall.

Junior League Conference In Honolulu

Mrs. Harcourt Hervey Jr., president of the Junior League of Pasadena, Mrs. David Morphy, second vice president, and Mrs. Richard Hambleton, chairman of admissions committee, were the three delegates from this area at a recent regional meeting held in Honolulu.

"Weighing Our Worth" was the theme of the discussion in workshops on league community program.

Delegates from the 12 junior leagues in Region XII were in attendance at the meeting. Represented were Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz.; Long Beach, Los Angeles, Oakland, Pasadena, Sacramento, San Diego, San Francisco and Santa Barbara, Calif.; Albuquerque, N.M., and Honolulu, T.H.

NINA NOVAK, famed ballerina, heads a cast of dancers appearing with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo at Pasadena Civic Auditorium Feb. 11. The company will present "Giselle" in two acts; "Gaite Parisienne" and "Pas de Deus Classique (The Black Swan)" from "Swan Lake."

Las Jardineras Sets Program On Camellias

Horace Colby of Bamico Gardens will speak on "Camellia Culture" at the January meeting of Las Jardineras Tuesday at the Canfield Road home of Mrs. Peter G. Lubisich.

Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Joseph Cummins and Mrs.

Last Installment Of 'Snow Queen'

The fourth and last part of Hans Christian Anderson's classic tale, "The Snow Queen," will be heard on "Stories From the Magic Land" next Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock over radio station KFI.

The following week, Eleanor Gene, narrator, will tell the tale of "Paavo Who Outwitted the Rogues."

Local League Members Hear Morris

Hastings Ranch and Sierra Madre members of the League of Women Voters of Pasadena will be privileged to hear one of the country's experts in the field of water problems at the next League Day, Jan. 28, in the Women's City Clubhouse.

Samuel B. Morris, who was chief engineer and manager of Pasadena Water Department for 22 years, which included the construction of Morris Dam, and who has advised the United States and foreign governments on water policy, will speak at 1 p.m. following luncheon.

The morning program will begin at 10 a.m. with a panel discussion on various aspects of city planning. At 10:30 a.m. Mrs. Richard Glass will lead a discussion on national water policy in which Mrs. Hugo Benioff, Mrs. Robert Johnston, Mrs. Alfred Hartwell, Mrs. Frank Goddard, Mrs. Morgan Ward, Mrs. Bertin Posthill and Mrs. Richard Dean will participate.

Luncheon reservations may be made by calling the League office at SY. 2-5298.

Among the 17 new members recently welcomed into the League of Women Voters of Pasadena, four were from this area.

They include Mrs. Frank Bondurant, Mrs. G. Russell Newton and Mrs. Howard Niederman of Hastings Ranch and Mrs. Jerome Lienhard of Sierra Madre.

Paul G. Kaponya Named New President of PIRA

Paul G. Kaponya

Paul G. Kaponya of 1205 Pine Bluff, has been named president of PIRA, Personnel and Industrial Relations Association. Mr. Kaponya, who is director of industrial relations for Cannon Electric Co., has been active in the association for nine years, serving on various committees. He was vice president for the year 1957.

Comprised of nearly 1,000 members, executives in industrial relations and personnel departments in Southern California industries, the objective of the association is to advance personnel and industrial relations fields.

The Sierra Madre News boasts a Kaponya on its staff. She is Joan, feature columnist, who writes "Teen-Times."

Field PTA Hears Talks on Rescue Work

In event of a disaster, major or minor, families must be prepared to take care of themselves, Eugene Field parents learned at an enlightening PTA meeting planned by the men's committee.

Parents and older children also learned how to hike and survive in the mountains, as explained and illustrated by the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Squad.

Fire Capt. Dave Holmes explained that in event of a disaster or conflagration in another part of the city which would use all fire equipment, families should know how to put out fires at home and appoint a fire marshal.

HE LISTED the five points of fire fighting as:

1—Rescue (in time of fire there is panic, he pointed out, and said missing children and even adults can often be located under beds and in closets).

2—Stay close to the floor where the air is purest. (Firemen Charles Kane and Joe Pugsey illustrated the fireman's carry, in which an unconscious victim much heavier than the rescuer may be safely and easily gotten out).

3—Close the door when you are sure all are rescued.

4—Have a garden hose with spray nozzle available which will reach all portions of the house, including cellar and roof. This must be available to use within two minutes.

5—Use the "indirect" method of fighting the fire, which consists of making a small opening in the room or area containing the fire, either through door or window, and slip the hose with fine spray on inside. He said a fine spray is much more effective smothering a fire than a heavy stream.

He listed essential fire fighting equipment as a ladder, an axe and the garden hose, and pointed out that fires on the kitchen stove can best be put out with baking soda.

THE SIERRA MADRE rescue unit spokesman, John Mathews, traced the history of the famed group since its informal beginning in 1929, told of its most recent rescue, that of the Boy Scout Jerry Sharpen, injured in a fall near Crystal Lake, and outlined a list of do's and don't's for safe mountain hiking. They include:

1—Never go alone on a mountain hike or separate from companions.

2—Be sure someone knows what you are wearing, where you are going and when you expect to return.

3—Never take a short cut. Stay on the trail.

4—Wear adequate clothing and footgear, carry first aid equipment, drinking water and a flashlight.

5—Don't run on trails, throw rocks, climb over rocks, go into caves.

6—Don't travel after dark. Allow time to get out before dark.

7—If lost, get to a clearing or high point and stay there. Use flashlight sparingly. Don't light a fire except in an extreme emergency.

MATHEWS POINTED out that using common sense can prevent most hiking trouble in the mountains. Several members of the rescue unit in their bright orange rescue gear were on hand to exhibit and explain equipment used in rescue operations, from ordinary rope to a one-wheeled stretcher, walkie-talkie, battery - operated searchlight, radio and huge topographical maps of the Sierra Madre.

Lt. John Elliott, director of training of the Pasadena Police Department, said Civil Defense should not be taken lightly, that families must be prepared to take care of themselves in an emergency, be it an earthquake, fire or A-bomb.

The program was presented by David Orswell, chairman of the men's committee at Field.

Sports in Haste . . .

Abstract Art Good Medium For Lovers of Pugilism

By Charles Ayres

Sport and art lovers can find much to please them at an exhibit presently showing at the Landau Gallery in Los Angeles.

For there will be found a series of oil paintings by a young artist from Berkeley, William Brown, who has done much in support of the sport page addict while dealing a severe blow to the "Do It Yourself" Clan.

Football, boxing and lacrosse are the subjects of Mr. Brown's canvas capers and are born of long hours of intense study of the sports photographers' best Saturday afternoon efforts.

BROWN FREELY admits that he neither participates nor attends these functions. He has found that a study of the photographic record of such goings-on has proved inspirationally as well as financially successful, which may not be according to Hoyle from the standpoint of the Model's Union, but nevertheless has provided the sport and art lovers with many happy hours of viewing.

Brown's technique must be referred to as impressionistic and abstract as contrasted to the photographic and academic schools. His bold black brush has been blended with splashes of brilliant color that result in a hazy but distinguishable depiction of violent physical activity.

Critics have described his efforts as the "dramatizing of chaotic heaps of players" and "muscular vitality and energy conveyed by thrust of nervous electric line and shapes flattened, overlapping and intersecting, giving dramas of physical life and crackling surface," whatever that means.

To even the layman, Brown's paintings leave an impact. His pictures of scrimmages look for all the world like the freeway cloverleaf on Friday afternoon.

BROWN SHOWS an uncanny knack of getting to the meat of the matter as evidenced by his picture of a line plunge where a defensive tackle's big meathook can be plainly seen rearranging the features of the hapless fullback. The most realistic of all his efforts also depicts a football scene where the central figure is the white clad referee with arms flailing and jowls bloated from his efforts to dislodge that little pea in his whistle.

His paintings of boxers show that he has captured the true spirit through his depiction of the scrambled features and with fluent use of bright red. It was only in the painting of lacrosse that Mr. Brown seems to have missed the action. The center of his canvas is splashed with brilliant rainbow colors that are pleasing to the eye but don't do a thing for the game.

All in all the exhibit provides an enjoyable afternoon of viewing and could only be enhanced by the soft strains of a phonograph record in the background providing a more natural atmosphere of bone crunching and a liberal spraying from the atomizer of Eue de Perspiration.

OLD CUSTOM — The modern fairgrounds had its origin centuries ago when warring tribesmen declared brief truths on "fair ground" to conduct trade. Rulers enforced honest dealings and encouraged sport. Pictured here is the colorful fairgrounds at Indio, where Riverside County Fair and National Date Festival is held, February 14 - 23. Garden Notes . . .

Three Fruit Trees Can Live as Cheaply as One

Have you heard the saying, "Two can live as cheaply as one"? Whether this is so may be disputed, but few will argue that three fruit trees can live as cheaply as one—in terms of garden space.

Planting three trees (different varieties of the same fruit) of similar habit in one hole is a practice which solves the average homeowner's problem of fruit variety in a limited space for fruit production, says the California Association of Nurserymen.

Besides saving space, planting three trees in a hole has two other advantages to the small home gardener: a longer bearing season and cross-pollination for species which require it.

APPLE, PEACH, plum, apricot, nectarine, pear and cherry trees are among the species which have already proven themselves adaptable to this practical growing scheme. However, the selection of three trees cannot be made just at random. Such considerations are size and form of growth, foliage patterns and ripening season must be taken into account to guarantee best results. The advice of local nurserymen, based on their experience, will prove valuable in selection of species and varieties.

Actual planting of the three trees is not a difficult procedure. The trees are simply placed 18 inches apart in a triangular design in one large hole. The branches and roots which will face toward the center of the planting must be carefully pruned to prevent crowding. Here again the nurseryman from whom the trees are selected will provide help. Aside from this pruning the procedure for preparing the soil and settling the new trees into the ground is the same as for any other fruit tree.

Two excellent trios which illustrate the advantages of three-in-a-hole planting are Freedom Nectarine with Gold Dust Peach and Early Elberta Peaches and Panamint Nectarine with Golden Blush Peach and Springtime Peach. All six varieties are the popular freestone types.

In the first trio the ripening period begins in early June with Early Elbertas, flourishes in early July with the perfect shaped Gold Dust and climaxes in late July with the highly-colored Freedom Nectarines. (In Southern California, gardeners should substitute Panamint, Palomar or Silver Lode Nectarines for Freedom Nectarines.)

THE OTHER trio has a more widely spread bearing season. Springtime ripens in May, Panamint Nectarines in July and Golden Blush Peaches in August. The bright red outer color of Panamint Nectarines increases the already substantial benefits in terms of fruit quality provided by this midseason fruit. Springtime's early crop has a sweet but tangy flavor.

In addition to these two popular combinations which most local nurseries encourage, the combinations of three varieties of the same fruit are excellent. In some instances, in fact, the combination is necessary.

Cherries, plums and almonds, for example, require cross-pollination, so they must be planted near appropriate trees of their species even when planted singly. Combining varieties of the same fruit have the advantage of obtaining uniform foliage appearance.

Pasadena 'Search for Talent' Contest Auditions to Start

Pasadena Department of Recreation and Exchange Club of Pasadena are co-sponsoring a "Search for Talent Contest" for young amateur talent.

The "quest for talent" is now in its twenty-third year. Entry blanks, rules and regulations may be procured at the contest headquarters, 1501 E. Villa St., which is, coincidentally, the Department of Recreation.

Young people between the ages of 7 and 21 are eligible providing they qualify according to the rules.

The audition groups are divided into three divisions —juniors, intermediates and seniors — each having five classes composed of piano, instrumental (includes organ), vocal, dance and variety. To save time, it is suggested that all those interested should make audition appointments at the time they register.

Popular or classical music as well as any type act, providing it is under three minutes, is welcome.

From these auditions, 30 acts will be selected to compete in the semi-finals on March 9 at Civic Auditorium. Another panel of judges will advance the winners to the finals which will be presented March 23.

All contestants have an equal chance to vie for gold, silver or bronze medals and the Sweepstakes Trophy which gives the added opportunity to compete in the statewide "Search for Talent Contest."

Council to Debate City Status Change

Town Clerk Post Could Be Appointive

A discussion which could lead to changes in the way Sierra Madre is governed is expected to occupy the attention of city councilmen at their meeting next Tuesday in City Hall.

Unknown by most residents is the fact that Sierra Madre is no longer a sixth class city, since the law was changed by the State Legislature in both the 1955 and 1957 sessions. All California communities are now either classified as charter or general law cities.

In Sierra Madre's case, this could mean that the city clerk and city treasurer would be appointed by the City Council, instead of elected as at present.

THE CURRENT city clerk, Mrs. Marie Warfel, and city treasurer, Carlton Pegler, both were elected in 1956 for four-year terms. Under the new law, they could be replaced, presumably in 1960, by an appointed "director of finance" who would handle both jobs.

The matter was brought to the City Council's attention by Mrs. Grace Vane, who wrote a letter to Mayor Charles H. James. The letter said:

"This is a confirmation of our telephone conversation of Saturday, Jan. 18, regarding the reorganization of our sixth class city to a general law city.

"I wish to thank you for accepting the question in its entirety and promising that a review of legislation adopted in both the 1955 and 1957 sessions of the Legislature would be prepared by Mr. Cornyn, city attorney, for presentation to the public at the next meeting of the City Council Jan. 28.

"At the time of our conversation I requested the purchase by the city for public use and made available for such use both the 1955 and 1957 Cities General Code and General Agencies Code which you agreed would be quite helpful to all of us."

THERE ARE two schools of thought about the appointment or election of the city clerk and city treasurer.

One viewpoint, held by many professional city administrators, is that in smaller communities, such as Sierra Madre, the clerk and treasurer jobs have dwindled in importance until these officials now perform onyl minor tasks, such as signing checks and legal notices.

In Sierra Madre, for example, Mrs. Warfel now works only part time. One of her main duties is to authorize city warrants and to sign legal documents. Mr. Pegler's principal function is to sign checks.

It is argued that both these jobs could be performed more efficiently by one person, appointed by and responsible to the City Council, an elective body.

ANOTHER VIEWPOINT, the one held by Mrs. Vane, is that by appointing the clerk and treasurer, a prerogative of the voters would be taken away and the system of checks and balance would be further impaired.

An appointed official, under this argument, would be at the mercy of the city administrator and City Council, which is not the case at present.

Mrs. Warfel, for example, could legally refuse to authorize warrants approved by the City Council, if she so desired. This constitutes a check on the Council which an appointed official would not have.

In the current city budget, funds are earmarked to put this proposition before the voters in the coming election on April 8.

Puppeteers Cathy Reece, Cynthia Matthews and Rebecca Rence.

Nine girls from Troop 26 will present a puppet show at 4 p.m. Friday, Jan. 31, at the Park House, under the direction of Mrs. Eric Wittig.

The two plays to be presented are "Gold, Rubies, or Salt" and "Una Fools the Fighting Giant." In charge of Troop 26 is Mrs. Barney Tumilty.

These girls are presenting the show as a final requirement for a puppetry badge as a first class Scouting requirement. In preparing for this badge, they have studied the history of puppets, made three types of puppets, dressed them and designed stage settings.

Taking part in the project are Cynthia Matthews, Rebecca Rence, Cathy Reece, Reggie Redel, Susan Fish, Lolita Stedman, Daryl Lee Pangborn, Mary Sue French and Rosemarie Wittig. Interested Scouts are invited to attend the show.

Anoakia Is Not For Sale

A report that Anoakia School may be closed to make way for an Arcadia junior high school was emphatically denied yesterday.

The owner of Anoakia, Lowry B. McCaslin, told the Sierra Madre News:

"The property here certainly is not for sale. We wouldn't consider selling it."

He explained that the report probably arose from recent discussions by Arcadia school officials who are looking for a site for a new junior high school. It was mentioned that the site now occupied by Anoakia would make a good location.

Mr. McCaslin pointed out, however, that Anoakia is not in the City of Arcadia but, instead, is "an island in the County of Los Angeles." As such, he explained, Arcadia would have no legal right to start condemnation proceedings, even if officials desired to do so.

Anoakia is a private girls' school situated on 20 acres bounded by Baldwin and Foothill. It was established approximately 15 years ago.

Filing Deadline For Election to Council Feb. 13

Prospective candidates for the City Council have until noon of Feb. 13 to file their nominating petitions with the city clerk, it was announced yesterday. The election will be April 8.

Three seats will be open on the City Council. They include those held by Harold Roberts, Herbert Harrison and William Lisle.

It's also possible that Sierra Madreans may be asked to decide whether the posts held by the city clerk and city treasurer should be elective or appointive. Under a change in state law, these positions may be filled by appointments.

Although none of the present councilmen whose terms expire has announced his intentions, it's expected that Harrison and Lisle will run for re-election. Roberts, who recently suffered a heart attack, may not run again.

Nominating petitions, incidentally, must be signed by at least five registered voters in Sierra Madre.

Virginia Sayles Shop Looted, $1,085 Loss

The Foothill - Rosemead Center dress shop owned by Virginia Sayles was burglarized some time Tuesday morning before store hours.

Miss Sayles, former owner of a dress shop in Sierra Madre, told Pasadena police that $85 was missing from the cash register and that numerous sweaters and coats had been taken. She placed the total loss at $1,085.

Mrs. Marie Ross, a sales clerk, said she noticed a rear door had been forced open when she reported to work at 9:20 a.m.

City Gets Rose Prize Feb. 2

The president of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses will present the Theme Prize to Sierra Madre at a general "Town Meeting" Sunday, Feb. 2. The meeting will start at 7:45 p.m. in the auditorium of the Sierra Madre School.

The prize—a colored photograph of Sierra Madre's float suitable for framing, and a letter of commendation—will be accepted by Mayor Charles H. James, who will preside. John H. Biggar Jr., president of the Tournament of Roses, will present the award.

IN ADDITION to Mayor James, members of the City Council will be among the honored guests.

The program will start with music by the Sierra Madre Concert Band, with Walter R. Laursen conducting.

James Wolfe, president of the Kiwanis Club, will lead the audience in a moment of prayer, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance led by Robert Green, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Next, the band will play the National Anthem. Audience singing will be led by Stewart W. Matter, choir director at the Congregational Church.

THE FIRST showing of the official color film of the Rose Parade will follow. The Tournament of Roses Committee, incidentally, has made 40 copies of the film which will be sent all over the world. Showings are now booked two months in advance.

Osti's Nursery will be in charge of stage decorations.

Local Hospital, Open a Year, Has 1,000th Patient

The Sierra Madre Hospital, opened less than a year ago, admitted its thousandth patient this week.

Since its opening March 18, 1957, the hospital has recorded 4,200 patient days days for an average stay per patient of 4.2 days. The majority have been women, which is probably related to the fact that 150 babies have been delivered.

The thousandth patient in the 26-bed hospital is Barnard Harlan, of 1003 Golden West, Arcadia, a teacher in the Mt. View School District.

Steinberger Club Has First Meeting

Last Saturday was the first meeting of the Steinberger Club. The membership is made up of 12 young ladies in the third and fourth grades at Sierra Madre Elementary School.

The club is named in honor of Harvey H. Steinberger, 529 Mariposa, who, when approached by the girls for instructions as to how to build a barbecue for their first meeting, offered to provide the "feast" on his barbecue and act as "chef."

Together with the disposal of a number of hamburgers, the day's agenda included the election of officers — Linda Richter, president; Leanne Toms, vice president; Diantha Burnett, secretary, and Mr. Steinberger, treasurer.

Those girls making up the membership are Linda and Donna Cline, Barbara Colvin, Elissa Eastwood, Roberta Goldberg, Adele Lambert, Teri Brett and Susan Green.

The group will meet each Saturday from 1 until 4 p.m. with games and crafts taking up most of the time.

Rites Held for William Laidlaw

William Laidlaw, 89, of 83 Sunnyside Ave., Sierra Madre, died Jan. 20 in a Sunland guest home.

A member of the Congregational Church of Sierra Madre, Mr. Laidlaw was a native of Illinois and had made his home in Sierra Madre for the past 38 years.

He is survived by stepdaughters, Mrs. Ruth Green Paul and Mrs. Majella V. Grimm of Sierra Madre; two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Funeral services were held Wednesday at Ripple Mortuary Chapel with Rev. George W. Lindsay officiating. Final interment was in Sierra Madre Cemetery.

CHILDREN'S CONCERT

The first performance in the West of "Hello World—a Musical Journey Around the World," is one of the features of the annual children's concert of the San Gabriel Valley Symphony Orchestra. Concert will be held Sunday afternoon, Jan. 26, with two performances, one at 3 p.m. and one at 4 p.m. at the Clifton School Auditorium in Monrovia.

Funeral Services Observed for Mary A. Hart

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary A. Hart, a former Sierra Madre resident, were held last Thursday in Costa Mesa. She was 80 years old.

Mrs. Hart came to Sierra Madre as a girl in 1890s and lived with her husband here in a house where the City Park is now located. At the time of her death she resided in Balboa.

She is survived by a daughter, Mary E. Schwartz, Sierra Madre, and two sons, Edwin G. Hart Jr., of Florida, and John C. Hart, La Habra.

Final Rites Held Here for Dr. Phillips

Funeral services were held in Bethany Church here yesterday for Dr. Frank C. Phillips, 46 - year - old executive secretary of World Vision, Inc. A lifelong Christian religious leader, Dr. Phillips died Friday night, Jan. 17, following a heart attack.

Stricken Friday morning in Los Angeles as he was boarding a plane for Portland, Ore., where he was scheduled to address a Youth For Christ rally Saturday, Dr. Phillips was taken to the Daniel Freeman Memorial Hospital in Inglewood where he died at 8:30 o'clock that evening.

Dr. Phillips founded the Youth For Christ movement in Portland in 1945 and was one of the leaders in organizing Billy Graham's first crusade in that city.

HIS MOST notable work in the religious field was as executive secretary of World Vision, Inc., an organization devoted to supplying the needs of missionaries and orphans throughout the world. World Vision has its headquarters in Los Angeles.

In 1947 Dr. Phillips served as executive director of Youth For Christ International, and was first director of the movement in Portland, serving from 1945 through 1956.

A speaker of note, he was a familiar figure nationally, having spoken before hundreds of churches and religious groups throughout the country.

HE WAS born in Estevan, Saskatchewan, April 6, 1911, and has resided in Chicago, Ill.; Shanghai, China; Vancouver, British Columbia; Portland and Los Angeles. He was graduated from the University of Toronto and received his Christian training from Moody Bible Institute and Western Conservative Baptist Theological Seminary in Portland.

Dr. Phillips leaves his wife,

Packed House Hears New Freeway Plans

A full house turned out in Azusa Civic Auditorium Tuesday night to hear representatives of the State Highway Department outline the proposed route of the Foothill Freeway.

In the Sierra Madre area, the freeway is expected to run approximately along the Santa Fe Railroad tracks, just north of Colorado Blvd., missing this city completely. (Sierra Madre News, issue of Jan. 16.)

In Azusa, L. R. Gillis, district engineer, and A. L. Hutchinson, assistant district engineer, used aerial maps to show both the route they called the "tentatively preferred" one and several alternatives.

THE PREFERRED location would bring the freeway into the Azusa area north of the Santa Fe dam, swinging down across Irwindale Ave. at the southeast corner of Aerojet-General's property.

It would travel south and cross First St. just west of Vernon Ave. From there it would proceed east at a point approximately 150 feet south of First St. to a point just west of Pasadena Ave.

Here it would swing slightly north again, running immediately adjacent to First St. (Baseline Ave.) on the south side of the existing street. It would follow this line easterly to Ben Lomond Ave.

THE STATE men stressed the interchanges and through streets will not be decided definitely until after the route itself is adopted.

An area-wide public meeting on the 16.9-mile stretch from Arcadia to La Verne will be held at the Recreation Center in Azusa Feb. 27.

CEC Forms Pact With Chicago Firm

Negotiations are in progress for a combination of Consolidated Electrodynamics Corp., Pasadena, and Cenco Instruments Corp., Chicago, Ill., according to a joint announcement made by Consolidated Board Chairman Philip S. Fogg and Alfred A. Strelsin, president, Cenco Instruments Corp.

Though the exact legal form that combination of the companies will take has not yet been determined, tentative agreement has been reached that the ratio of exchange will be on the basis of three shares of Cenco stock for one share of Consolidated Electrodynamics.

Consummation of this combination is subject to the customary audit and legal investigations by both companies and the necessary approvals of stockholders of both companies and government agencies.

"Cenco's nation-wide organization for the marketing of laboratory equipment and scientific instruments will open new avenues for the exploitation of many CEC products," Fogg said. "At the same time, Consolidated's broad research and development program should add significant new products to Cenco's well established line. We are convinced that the combination of these two companies would greatly strengthen the long-range growth potential of each company."

Strelsin stated that "the fact that these two companies complement each other to a remarkable degree should result in the creation of one of the country's outstanding instrument organizations."

DIVIDEND RECORD

A dividend payment totaling over $4 million, the largest quarterly payment ever made by a savings and loan association, was paid by Home Savings and Loan for the quarter ending Dec. 31.

Survey Under Way To Test Radio Station Need

A survey is under way in Sierra Madre to determine whether the city would support a radio station.

Max H. Isoard, 420 N. Sunnyside, has talked to several local merchants to test their reaction to a radio station. He plans to name his company, if it is established, the Sierra Madre Broadcasting Company.

The station, Isoard said, would "endeavor to bring into your home the type of programs of interest to the entire family."

These would include local sports, church news and events, national and world news, local news and "lots of good music."

Foothill Concert Patrons to Hear Sarah Fleming

Sarah Fleming, a young soprano who has won the acclaim of New York critics, will appear at Clifton School auditorium, Monrovia, Monday night in the second concert of the year sponsored by Foothill Community Concert Assn.

Sarah Fleming

Although only in her early 20s, Miss Fleming already has appeared with the American Opera Society, the New York City Opera Company and with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Miss Fleming has filled a wide variety of roles, including Mozart's seldom-played "Titus," Monteverdi's "Coronation of Poppea" and Gluck's "Paris and Helen."

Red Cross Plans Annual Meet Jan. 27

Return guest speaker by popular request at the annual dinner meeting of the Sierra Madre chapter, American Red Cross, will be Roland Bach, manager of the Long Beach chapter.

Approximately 100 Sierra Madre residents are expected to attend this annual event, which will be held at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 27, at the Woman's Clubhouse.

A report on chapter activities will be given and announcement made of the fund campaign manager for 1958. Nomination and election of eight new board members will also take place.

Dinner will be served by the Sierra Madre Woman's Club as a ways and means project, under the supervision of Mrs. Verne Eppard. Reservations for the dinner may be had by calling ELgin 5-0745.

Parking Lot Plans Set at Clubhouse

Clearing of the west lot adjacent to the Woman's Clubhouse to make space for parking facilities will begin this week, according to Miss Clara Sykes, president.

Over $1,000 has been raised for this project through the success of the Thrift Shop, sponsored by the Sierra Madre Woman's Club under the chairmanship of Mrs. Dewey McGeary.

Two of the regular Thrift Shop workers are Mrs. Archie G. Bonn and Mrs. H. N. Wade Jr. Other club members have donated time whenever possible.

Mrs. McGreary said the Thrift Shop, located in the Woman's Clubhouse, will continue to be open Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Any donations will be appreciated as the Woman's Club is hoping to complete the new parking lot as soon as possible.

Arthur Brown Honored by Teachers Club

Arthur C. Brown, who retired recently after 15 years of service with the Sierra Madre School District, was honored by the Teachers Club at that organization's January meeting.

The club was host to the entire staff honoring Mr. and Mrs. Brown upon his retirement.

Highlight of the occasion was the presentation of gifts from the staff by Miss Mildred Wade and Dick Pendergast. A short presentation speech was made by Miss Betty Newton.

MISS NEWTON said that during the past 15 years, the district has been proud of the comments from students and visitors about the well-kept grounds. The citizens of the community have enjoyed and been proud of the appearance of the planting because of Mr. Brown's conscientious efforts and knowledge of landscaping and botany.

His attitude, Miss Newton continued, can be likened to the third stone mason's, in the well-known story, who replied, when asked what he was doing, that he was not working or laying bricks, but was constructing a beautiful building.

Stone-Wolf Rites in Chicago

Marcia Wolf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wolf of Brooklyn, N.Y., became the bride of Remington Stone II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Remington Stone, 321 E. Grandview, Jan. 10 in Chicago, Ill.

The bride wore a simple tailored costume and carried a small bouquet of Amazoniana lilies. She is a pre-medical student, in her sophomore year, at the University of Chicago.

The groom is a graduate student at the University of Chicago. Both young people plan to continue their studies.

Highlight of the wedding reception, given by the groom's Phi Gamma Delta fraternity brothers, was the refreshment table decorated with many pink camellias from Sierra Madre flown to Chicago by Mr. Stone's mother, who flew East to attend the ceremony.

Woman's Club to Host District Meet

Approximately 50 officers will attend the third and last conference for presidents and first vice presidents of the Verdugo District, California Federation of Women's Clubs, at the Sierra Madre Woman's Clubhouse Thursday, Jan. 30.

Subjects for discussion at this conference, which will be held from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., will include nominations, elections and other pertinent problems. In charge will be Mrs. Dwight R. Young, Verdugo District president. Other district officers include Mrs. Howard Chandler, dean of presidents; Mrs. George J. Champlain, dean of chairmen, and Mrs. T. B. Roscoe, Verdugo recording secretary.

Welcoming the conference will be Mrs. Clara L. Sykes, local Woman's Club president. Attending from Sierra Madre will be Mrs. Sykes, Mrs. Charles Tye, first vice president, and Mrs. Franklin Franco, corresponding secretary.

The man who searches for the truth is only trying to prove the sincerity of his doubts.

FRANCES FAYE, popular pianist - vocalist, will appear with Vido Musso and his band at Hesperia Inn Jan. 24 through Feb. 2.

Monrovia DBE Installation For Officers

Members of Monrovia Chapter, Daughters of the British Empire, met at the British Home Inc. for their annual installation of new officers ceremony.

Mrs. J. P. Reynolds, president of the DBE state board, opened the proceedings by thanking Mrs. E. Channel, outgoing regent of the Princess Anne Chapter in Monrovia, for all the hard work, time and effort she had put forth during her term of office, making this relatively new chapter a successful group.

Mrs. Channel, in turn, thanked her executive committee, outgoing officers and members of the chapter for their wholehearted support and assistance during her term of office, without which she felt the success of the club could not have been possible.

Those officers installed by Mrs. Reynolds and presented with a corsage were Miss Vera Jones, regent; Mrs. J. Kent, vice regent; Mrs. G. Cline, treasurer; Mrs. L. Roberts, secretary; Mrs. R. O. Disney, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. D. W. Hibbs, historian and publicity.

Guests present at the ceremonies included Mrs. J. Warddell, first vice president of the DBE state board; Mrs. P. Cleveland, regent, Grovenor Square Chapter, Pasadena, and guests of the British Home Inc.

St. Rita's Parish Makes Plans For Festive Camellia Ball

Amid an exquisite and varying array of camellia blossoms, the members of St. Rita's Parish of Sierra Madre and their friends will attend the "Camellia Ball" Saturday, Feb. 1, at the Altadena Town and Country Club, Altadena, from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Mrs. W. R. Sidenfaden, president of St. Rita's Guild, and Walter Fleming, president of the Holy Name Society, represent the two organizations which, this year, as in the past, combined efforts in making this gala event successful.

Mrs. Paul A. Donovan, vice president and ways and means chairman, and Anthony De Pasco, chairman of the decorations committee, with their committee members have completed unique plans to enhance the decor of the ballroom.

A "CAMELLIA BELL" through which the couples enter will grace the entrance to the ballroom. At a designated time in the festivities, a shower of balloons will fall from a large camellia-bedecked parasol, suspended from the ceiling, a number of which will contain camellias. Fortunate couples catching these balloons will receive prizes.

Couples will dance to the music of Joe Mashay and his orchestra. Cocktails and hors-d'oeuvres will be served between the hours of 8 and 9.

General chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Donovan will be assisted by the following: Decorating committee — Anthony De Pasco, chairman, assisted by Jules Ruggles, Thomas Welch, Frank Parks, Sam Muller and Walter Fleming.

Table arrangements—Mrs. Milton Morningstar, chairman, assisted by Mmes. Lewis Lampi, John Englest, Brian McGoldrick and Anthony De Pasco.

Publicity — Mrs. John E. Tahl, chairman, assisted by Bernard Wynne and Manuel de la Torre.

HOSTS AND hostesses for the evening will include Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sidenfaden, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McNamara, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Danielson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Donovan, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Tahl.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. William Maloney, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. James Crossman, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Papac, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Salvador Mulle, Mr. and Mrs. Jules Ruggles, Mr. and Mrs. David Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stockinger, Mr. and Mrs. David Harney, Mr. and Mrs. William Volmart, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Daulton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parks, Mr. and Mrs. George Matakovich, Mr. and Mrs. James Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Julie Cogorno, Mr. and Mrs. John Nuccio and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Heydon.

Music Teachers Association Meeting Jan. 26

The Music Teachers' Association of California, Pasadena Branch, will sponsor a program next Sunday afternoon in the auditorium of Pasadena Art Museum, 46 N. Los Robles Ave., at 3:30 p.m.

Marlow Mills, program chairman, has secured two special speakers to discuss the relationship of music to art in the Baroque period. Albert Adams, well-known speaker and musician who has recently returned from a year abroad, will represent the musical side of the discussion.

Jarvis Barlow, leading figure in art and museum circles, will speak on art aspects of the Baroque period.

Music of the period will be presented by duo-pianists, Gladys Howson and Catherine Swanson, and violinist, Arthur Lederman.

The public is invited.

Eastern Star Celebrates With 47th Anniversary

One of the most outstanding events held recently was the birthday dinner party of the Order of Eastern Star, Chapter 299, celebrating that organization's 47th anniversary.

More than 100 Eastern Star members and their guests attended this important affair. Bouquets of camellias complemented with theme colors of green and silver were used for decoration.

This occasion also marked the birthday of members and was planned under the chairmanship of Mrs. Bernice Gibian assisted by chapter officers.

Following this formal dinner party, a meeting of past matrons and past patrons was held with Mrs. Grace Hinton, past matron of 1951, and Edward Hinton, past patron of 1951, presiding.

The regular program meeting of the Civic Club will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 23.

The program will include a representative from the Marie Antoinette Catering Service who will give party ideas and decorate a cake to be raffled for club benefit.

Federation reports are due, according to Mrs. R. H. Barden, president. Changes in by-laws also will be discussed at this meeting.

Mrs. Stanley Fish Installs Officers For Valley Club

Mrs. Stanley Fish, 80 E. Grandview, former president of Foothill Toastmistress Club, served as installing officer at the recent installation dinner held at the Sho-House Restaurant in Duarte.

Those new officers presented corsages by Mrs. Fish to symbolize their new duties were Mrs. Mary Ray, president; Mrs. John Kinsley, vice president; Mrs. Helene McFarland, secretary; Mrs. Hal Halverson, treasurer, and Mrs. Jerry Kaneaster, program chairman.

The program preceding the installation ceremonies included a humorous skit honoring the retiring president, Mrs. Kaneaster, and speeches by members of Toastmistress Jackie Flander's panel of speakers.

The next meeting of the group, scheduled for Jan. 27 at Sho-House Restaurant, will feaure the last "elimination" speech contest leading to the annual club contest.

Later meetings will provide workshop training in parliamentary practice, speech evaluation and committee work, as well as programs of prepared and impromptu speeches.

The Foothill Toastmistress Club, part of an international organization, is made up of members from various communities in the San Gabriel Valley. All interested Sierra Madre women are invited to attend. Reservations and information may be had by calling Mrs. Mary Ray at ELliott 8-3857.

Social and Club Activities

Concert Series Final Program Next Sunday

California Artists Concert series will present its final program of the season next Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in San Marino Woman's Clubhouse, 1800 Huntington Dr.

Maria Martino, soprano, graduate of Cincinnati College of Music, pupil of Alexander Kisselburgh and winner of the highest Atwater Kent award in 1949, will share the program with Donald Combs, baritone.

As a member of Pasadena Boy Choir, Mr. Combs toured widely under the direction of Dr. John Henry Lyons, singing cantatas and sacred music as well as opera. He was a student under Madam Lotte Lehman, John Charles Thomas, Dr. Carl Ebert, Dr. Jan Popper and Forest LaBarre.

Raymond McFeeters, pianist, organist and composer, will accompany both artists. He is well known throughout California for his frequent appearances, including Hollywood and Redlands Bowls.

Plans and auditions for the 1958 May season are in preparation, according to Clare Horner, who administers California Artists series.

Tickets and information may be obtained by calling RYan 1-2969 or by writing to 721 Brent Ave., South Pasadena.

A second son, Gerald Ross, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Bergis, 35 Victoria Lane, Dec. 18 at St. Luke Hospital, weighing 7 pounds, 15 ounces. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Bennett of Altadena. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Bergis of Pasadena. The other Bergis son is Donald, 2.

Othello Given By Caltech Reading Group

Mrs. Paul Bowerman of Sierra Madre will direct the presentation of "Othello," the fourth performance of the Caltech Play Reading Group for this year.

This play will be presented for the membership this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Lindvall, 1224 Arden Rd., Pasadena.

The introduction will be given by Dr. Hallett Smith, chairman, Division of Humanities, Caltech. Professors taking part are Beach Langston, Matthew Sands, Edward Hutchings, Jesse Greenstein, Graydon Spaulding, David Elliot, Heinz Ellersieck, Paul Bowerman, Allan Sweezy and Mmes. Allan Sweezy, T. M. Harvey and Jesse Greenstein. Mrs. Beach Langston is coordinator of the group with Mrs. David Wood, Sierra Madre, as adviser.

Symphony To Feature Mary Costa

Two operatic arias, "Casta diva" from Bellini's "Norma," and "Ah, fors' e lui" from Verdi's "La Traviata," will be sung by Mary Costa when the noted soprano appears as soloist with the San Gabriel Valley Civic Symphony Orchestra at a free concert in San Gabriel High School Auditorium at 3 p.m. Feb. 2.

Conductor Vernon Robinson will interpret Beethoven's First Symphony, Mozart's Overture to the Marriage of Figaro and the world premiere of three short orchestral works by the celebrated American composer, Elliot Griffis.

Association Plans Party In Arcadia

The San Gabriel Valley Opera Association will sponsor "Gay Ninetys Gala," a dinner dance featuring the "Firehouse Five Plus Two," Feb. 1 at 8 p.m. in the Banquet House, 27 W. Huntington Dr., Arcadia.

The restaurant will be transformed into Diamond Jim Brady's dance hall, complete with chrystal chandeliers and "the longest bar in the world." Singing waiters and "Diamond Jim" and his dance hall queens will greet the party goers.

Following the buffet dinner, an extravaganza, with some of the group's most talented entertainers to be presented, including Floradora girls, can can dancers, barbershop quartet and the inevitable melodramatic "beauty" singing "I'm Only a Bird in a Guilded Cage."

Reservations may be made by calling HIllcrest 7-6780 or writing Box 473, Arcadia.

A Better Way

A huge $74 billion budget has been proposed by the Administration and not a murmur of protest is heard. Not a ripple disturbs our feverish efforts to catch up wih Sputniks I and II.

Maybe this is as it should be. Maybe we are at last shaking off our lethargy, meeting the challenge cast our way by the Russians. Perhaps our only immediate course is to match the Kremlin, missile for missile, bomb for bomb. But eventually—not today, perhaps, or even tomorrow—we must sit down and talk to the Communists. We must arrive at a peaceful solution.

IT DOES NO good to argue that the Russians won't talk to us honestly, or that they won't keep their word, or that we don't like the Communists or trust them. The bulk of the world's business is transacted between men who do not trust each other.

There are self-enforcing commercial devices in business which make mutual trust no longer essential to trade. Similar devices are now waiting to be used in the struggle for supremacy between the Soviet Union and the free world.

We of the West can no longer coerce our enemies into a full-scale retreat. Russia cannot force us to accept Communist dogma or to approve solutions which are fundamentally incompatible to our survival as a democracy. The atomic bomb and all the other implements of total destruction long ago ended the era when one nation, through sheer power, could subjugate another nation, without firing a shot.

The only answer today is a workable settlement, one not necessarily based on trust but, instead, on the realities of the atomic age.

THE ALTERNATIVES to a peaceful solution are few and almost too ghastly to contemplate.

We can continue to rattle our hydrogen bombs while the Russians rattle their missiles. We can continue to live in perpetual, self-destroying fear and, eventually, to lose our identity as the cradle of democracy.

We may, if we wish, continue to pour billions upon billions into the rathole of bigger and better armaments. We can build thousands of jet fighters, scrap them in a few years when they become obsolete and build thousands more. We can continue to base a large part of our economy upon the artificial stimulus of production for defense. We can tool our industrial might into such a gigantic war machine that it would become self-perpetuating and rule us all.

We, like the Soviets, can populate the heavens with billions of space ships and satellites until they become as numerous as the stars of the Milky Way. But eventually we must sit down and talk, we must arrive at a settlement that will halt this insanity.

For the last alternative, the one we dread above all others, is war.—H.W.E.

Ike's News Conference Called 'Sad Spectacle'

By Robert G. Spivack

THE END OF THE LINE—To believe it you had to see it. And the only way to see it was to be there. Photographs, television or just listening to the voice on radio — all these tended to leave a false impression.

What I am referring to is President Eisenhower and his recent news conference, the first since Oct. 30, 1957.

It was a sad and sorry spectacle.

Only a week before I had seen the President come up to Capitol Hill to deliver his State of the Union message. For one so mild as Mr. Eisenhower, it was full of fire and well delivered. Except when his voice became hoarse towards the end of the 44-minute address he seemed to be in good shape, even to be enjoying himself.

It was entirely different at his press conference. He was not enjoying himself. He was under a strain from the moment he came in.

* * *

HE WALKED in with his head down. He was gruff as he said, "Good morning. Please sit down. I have no statement of my own." There were none of the usual amenities. Nothing said about not having met with the newspapermen for 10 weeks, nor all the things that had happened in-between, from Sputnik II to the mild stroke to the Paris meeting of NATO.

Except for a fleeting moment or two, there were no smiles and few attempts at levity. He was grim, he was fighting mad, but he was also a hurt man, deeply hurt. His comments were vague and his voice lacked vitality, except on one point. That was the defense of John Foster Dulles.

It was Mike O'Neill of The New York Daily News who touched off an outburst of public Presidential anger of rare magnitude.

* * *

DULLES UBER ALLES—O'Neill noted that Dulles has been coming under increasing criticism "and it has been reported that he recently submitted his resignation to you and that you rejected it." O'Neill asked if the President would "confirm this report" and if it was "in any way impairing . . . ." But he never got the sentence finished.

"Have you seen that report or have you written it yourself?" the President snapped.

"No, sir," the startled O'Neill replied meekly, "but it was in the newspapers."

"It was?" the President replied unbelieving. "Then I would say, I would class it as trash."

Then the President launched into as vigorous a defense of Dulles as he has made of any member of his Cabinet. Dulles, he said, was the "wisest, most dedicated man I know."

* * *

WHAT TOUCHED off this particular bit of Presidential rage we do not know. But we have it on excellent authority that only a short time ago the President was complaining to a friend about the effect Dulles was having on some of our allies. Perhaps the President has forgotten what he said, maybe he's sorry he said it, he may even feel guilty about it.

The gist of the remarks was that he wished Dulles would be a little less verbose. In short, he talks too much.

* * *

THE REST OF THE PICTURE—Except for this episode most of the conference moved slowly. But the President's lack of vitality crept through at another point. He was asked if he would "fight" for unification of the services and streamlining of the Pentagon?

"Well, now, just a minute," the President answered. "I don't know who you are fighting . . . my views will certainly be expressed to the very best I can; and, as I say, if the trend and tendency is not in that direction, then I couldn't possibly have anything to do with it."

This scarcely seemed like the kind of bold attitude one might expect towards a sprawling, overgrown defense establishment that has been oustripped in one area by the "backward" Russians.

The Pentagon spends two-thirds of your tax dollar, but its inefficiency didn't stir the President. When that happens with a Republican President, he's tired.

Lee Shippey asks
What Do You Think?

The fine record of the Sierra Madre Fire Department last year certainly is something to brag about. In fact, I wonder if it doesn't entitle the department to a national honor.

I now live in a community about one-fourth the size of Sierra Madre which is kept so moist by ocean fogs and cool sea breezes that many things (especially weeds) grow green and bright all winter without irrigation, yet its fire losses last year were many times what Sierra Madre's were.

Sierra Madre's fine record shows how it pays to make an entire community fire-conscious, and the Fire Department has had a lot to do with that, as well as with preventing and putting out fires.

* * *

IN PIONEER DAYS, the volunteer fire departments were the most generally honored citizens and the social elite of towns like Virginia City. In the matter of impact on the community, Sierra Madre's Fire Department is something like that. The firemen's wives have their own social group and their activities help spread fire consciousness. The firemen—and their wives—stage our annual Christmas tree and Easter egg hunt and have seen to it that many families in hard luck were not forgotten in festive seasons. The city certainly owes a lot to those men—and women.

* * *

SO FAR AS Sierra Madre goes, I doubt that Bill Stethem will make much of a race against Eck Hiestand. Eck is a genial, likeable person who makes a good impression, has plenty of money and stands stanchly by the platform on which William McKinley was elected in 1896. Bill is a rather intense person who doesn't make as good an impression but is equally sincere and, to my prejudiced mind, more progressive. He needs a good job because his wife, though a lovely woman, is a wheelchair invalid. But it would be a surprise if he won it.

Taormina Second Home Of American Composer

By Edward Lloyd Vorhees

On the summer afternoon in 1926 when with two friends from America, one of whom bore a written introduction to Carlo Wood, I made my first visit to "Convento Carmine," we three were introduced to a house guest there, also from America.

This was Eugene Bonner of Baltimore and New York who, in the course of the afternoon, gave us the pleasure of several renditions of classics at the grand piano. At that time already well-known in Eastern musical circles as an accomplished artist, critic, and composer of chamber and orchestra music, he later composed four full-length operas, including "Barbara Fritchie" and also functioned as music critic of the "Outlook" and the "Brooklyn Daily Eagle."

IT WAS my genial host of Hotel Diodoro, Signor Bambara, who gave me the news that Bonner, after many visits to Taormina, had recently become a permanent resident, apparently — for he had brought with him from New York his grand piano!

Moreover, he was living in the guest house on the estate of a Sicilian couple who had long been his friends.

Signor Bambara thereupon brought out and lent me Bonner's most recent publication, a book of 189 pages, entitled "Sicilian Roundabout," with a text both amusing, scholarly, and up-to-date, with 40 magnificent photographs, which I began to read that day and finished, not without regret, before I left Taormina. This recent book and Professor George Woodbury's "Taormina" of more than 30 years ago are "tops" in my memory of the historical works I have read on the Sicilian scene.

THE FOLLOWING afternoon I had a pleasant visit with Bonner. I found him, a man of medium height, with Arab-dark complexion and eyes, seated in the sun on his sheltered terrace, swathed in overcoat, muffler, and steamer rug, the temperature being only 50 degrees. He looked very fit and was typing an article for a musical magazine. He said he is contented in Taormina and would never return to New York to live. He works best in Sicily, and, in Sicily, best in Taormina!

Carlo Wood, he told me, had lived out even more than the full span of life, he died in his Convento Carmine in March or April of 1943. Three months later the Allied bombers had come over Taormina, "pin-pointing" the de luxe Hotel San Domenico, where the German high-command staff was reported to be having a conference.

But the "pin-point" missed the hotel completely, gutted the church of San Domenico next door, and a second bomb blew the Convento Carmine into unrecognizable rubble. I visited its ruins, but what I saw was my memories of its sunlit old grey walls, its fruit trees, its flower plots, and the town orchestra giving their annual concert, with Caro Wood making everybody feel "at home."

OUT OF THE COBWEBS

43 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK, Jan. 22, 1915—A wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Clark in Los Angeles, when her daughter, Leora Hearne of Sierra Madre, became the bride of Dr. George M. Groth of Los Angeles.

AT ONE end of town—east of Double Drive—giant caterpillars are savagely chewing their way through the ways to shove housing tracts further up. It seems inconsistent to move down mountains in order to make way for civilization, when idyllic spots immediately adjoining this area are fenced and barricaded to hikers and nature lovers.

A RUN of ill health has turned Ben and Martha Garson into steady customers at the S. M. Hospital. No sooner was Ben released, after nearly two weeks' hospitalization for virus pneumonia, than Martha entered the hospital with a severe back condition.

This comes at a particularly bad time for the Garsons because they are in the throes of painting and moving into a home they recently purchased on Mariposa.

TWO SIERRA MADRE women have an edge on the Duchess of Windsor in the field of stocking consumption per single shopping foray. During Larry Garland's recent hosiery sale, two ladies each purchased six dozen pairs of stockings—a neat total of 144 pair — (hmmmm, that's enough to cover 288 legs).

Because of the unusually large amount, the manufacturers called Larry from San Francisco to verify the order and noted that even the Duchess buys only four dozen pairs of stockings at one throw.

HELPED HIMSELF. During Sunday night meeting at a local church, a well-dressed youth was seen loitering around the religious magazine rack attached to a tree in front of the building. After wriggling the rack a few times, as if to straighten it, he suddenly wrenched it loose, darted across the street with it under his arm and threw it in his car. Then he nonchalantly sauntered back across the street and entered the church for the remainder of the evening services.

THERE SEEMS to be a real prowler problem in the vicinity of Highland and Baldwin—with various residents reporting Peeping Toms, etc. Someone reportedly shot a bullet through the picture window of one home, while the owners were entertaining friends inside.

IN LIGHT of the above mentioned situation, and because a near and dear relative was convinced that someone was skulking around her yard at night, the woman's son-in-law recently stationed himself on the front porch — hoping to surprise the prowler. As he crouched back in the shadow to wait, a man stealthily prowled back and forth in front of the house. The two shadowy figures (one on the sidewalk, one on the porch) peered silently and intently at each other through the darkness — each mentally cataloging the other's description.

Later, after the son-in-law had dutifully reported the suspect to the police, it turned out that his brother-in law had suddenly decided to spot-check the house the same evening—and the two relatives had been spying on each other.

Letters to the Editor

POOL PRICES

To the Editor:

The price schedule suggested by the Recreation Commission for admission to our new swimming school suggests that it is a self-liquidating, rather than a self-supporting project. At those prices, it will be cheaper for many of us with large families to continue memberships in the privately-owned swimming clubs in Arcadia and Pasadena.

The size of the suggested operating staff and the suggested money-handling equipment are, perhaps, factors influencing the suggested price schedule. Cash-registers, with operating cashiers, are not a necessity. Subway systems in New York and Chicago use coin-operated turnstiles — and save the cashiers' salaries.

No Complaints Received Over $74 Billion Budget

By Edgar W. Hiestand, Rep. 21st District

The pace of the opening weeks of Congress has been furious. One colleague remarks that it looks like midsummer around Capitol Hill the way people are stirred up. Usually it's July or August, just before adjournment, before Congress shifts into high gear.

This year there's a sense of urgency in the air, a feeling that something has to be done and fast. Congressmen back from the hustings are restless and anxious. They've listened to ideas, suggestions and demands from constituents for several months, and with elections just over the horizon they're eager to do something; in a few cases, anything.

Just where the frenzy will lead, no one can surmise. President Eisenhower's program was taken in stride. It served only as a springboard for more congressional ideas. The proposed $74 billion budget, $2 billion higher than last year's so-called "spendthrift" budget, failed to cause much of a sensation. It had been expected, both here and back home. I have yet to receive a postcard, letter or telegram from home protesting its size. Quite a contrast from last year.

THIS MAY TURN into a "Buck Rogers Congress." We've heard proposals for crash programs to build super missiles, atom-powered space ships and moon rockets. Committees are hard at work trying to determine how best to bolster America's defenses—and offenses. Sometimes it's difficult to tell whether we're planning to defend against Russia or against Mars.

The House already has approved unanimously a $550 million authorization bill for urgently needed military construction. The bill provides $112 million to build launching and training sites for ballistic missiles, $189 million for sites for detecting enemy ballistic missiles, $194 million to permit greater dispersal of Strategic Air Command units, $25 million for construction of alert facilities at SAC bases, and $30 million for our SAGE system (Semi-automatic Ground Environment). This last is a project designed to shorten the interval between the discovery of an enemy aircraft and the use of planes and missiles against it.

The bill will be followed shortly by a supplemental appropriation to provide money for military construction and other urgent defense needs. Funds are being asked for the first three nuclear submarines capable of launching the Navy's Polaris missile, being built by Lockheed and reportedly fired successfully last week.

Generally Congress seems to back the Administration in its defense effort. It is likewise determined that although our defenses may have to reach the limits of outer space, our spending should be confined to the earth's orbit. There is no magic in mere money, and Congress, in its avid determination to do the job, must concentrate on where the money is going as well as on how much is spent.

The budget as presented is in precarious balance. Receipts at current tax rates could never begin to pay for all the programs that have been proposed here. It is now a case of focusing on the best ones and carrying them out. Non-defense proposals, and particularly the "congressional porkbarrel" which includes the vote-getting schemes in home districts, will have to suffer this year. Bluntly stated, the nation as a whole comes first.

DESPITE THE emphasis on defense, many of the "old issues" are still with us. Among them are the much criticized rulings by the U. S. Supreme Court which gave solace to Communists and sympathizers under the guise of "individual rights."

Introduced with little fanfare last week was H. R. 9937 by Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee. This 44-page bill would amend and strengthen the Internal Security Act of 1950 in some 18 ways.

It would, for example, counter the Communist technique of changing the name of an organization to escape consequences whenever adverse findings are made. Additionally it would make it a misdemeanor for persons to misbehave before congressional committees, prohibit Communist lawyers from practicing before executive departments and congressional committees, and redefine the term "organize" as used in the Smith Act.

The proposed new definition would overcome the effect of the decision in the Yates Case which permitted Los Angeles Communists to go free. There are other equally important provisions.

No member of Congress wants to deprive any loyal American of his constitutional rights, but at the same time no Congressman wants to deprive the nation of its freedom by permitting disloyal persons to engage in subversive activities under the protection of the Constitution.

Chairman Walter's bill would bring about long needed reforms in our security provisions. We are hoping for quick action on it.

"HERE COMES RUFUS IN THAT CUTE FOREIGN CAR THAT HOLDS ONLY TWO."

. . . Fire Flames . . .

By Chief James Heasley

Right or wrong, here's to honest opinion. To the newspaper: May it fight in the defense of right with strong columns and good heads.

To the editor: Whose opinions—political, religious and sociological—are always his own—and sometimes his paper's.

We have 'em all. Opinions, our "Squeek," and our editor. We men of the Fire Department are grateful for the support we get through the Sierra Madre News. We feel that through the many years of publication of affairs (of the Fire Department) we have received great benefit.

Because the men enjoy reading about themselves a greater interest is retained. Because a few residents read about the work of the firemen and the dangers of fire, others follow suit and become fire conscious. Preventing fire is something that all can take part in. Aiding the firemen is a simple matter and yet very important. Our continuous low fire loss is proof of the pudding. We sincerely ask that those who realize the danger of accumulations of trash and fire-hazardous materials find a way to have it removed and educate others.

* * *

WHEN ONE of our beloved firemen reached home a little late, he had to explain.

"I got pinched for speeding on the way home and I have to appear tomorrow morning and get $10 or 15 days."

His sweet young wife just clapped her hands in glee.

"What luck!" she cried aloud. "You must take the 15 days, John! The cook has just left!"

* * *

THE IDEAL weather of the fast passing winter is surely something to boast about. Boast, and yet remember that a serious fire in the community can immediately cause an overcast and great clouds. Let's keep the FIRES OUT.

Faith Lutheran Church Launches Friendship Week

"Sunday morning will introduce Friendship Week at Faith Lutheran Church," according to Rev. Armin Hesse, pastor of the church, located at 835 Hastings Ranch Dr.

At 9:15 a.m., Rev. Oren H. Geiger of Turlock, Calif., will be introduced to the Sunday School departments as Guest Missioner for the week. Rev. Geiger will present the sermon in the 10:30 a.m. Worship Hour. In this service, the local pastor will commission the congregation's lay visitors.

Rev. Geiger is active pastor of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Turlock. A graduate of Concordia Seminary, Springfield, Illinois, he began his ministry in 1945 at Pittsburg, Calif.

He has been especially active in youth work in the San Francisco and Northern California area. Members and friends will have the opportunity to become personally acquainted with him during the week.

From Monday through Thursday at 8 p.m., an evening Mission Service will be held in the Hastings Ranch Chapel. These informal services will include a hymnsing, an open forum period, the presentation of a song by a department of the Sunday School, an illustrated talk for children, and a short Gospel message by the Rev. Geiger, presenting the great truths and blessings of the Christian faith. The evening worship hour will be followed by a fellowship and snack period.

"It is our aim during this week to concentrate on sharing the great living facts and blessings of the Christian faith, especially with the people of our community who have no local church," said Rev. Hesse. In proof of their interest in this cause, members of the church have placed over 500 invitations in the mails during the forepart of the week.

Rev. Ray Hansen To Return From Big Conference

Rev. Ray E. Hansen, pastor of the United Lutheran Church, will return tomorrow from a theological conference at the Pacific Southwest Lutheran Seminary at Berkley.

Featured at the conference was a series of lectures on "Christian Vocation" presented by Dr. Donald R. Heiges, executive secretary of the National Lutheran Council's department of college and university work.

Workshops were featured on parish education, pastoral care, Lenten preaching and home missions; lectures by the Rev. Toivo Harjunpaa on "They That Worship Him," meditations by Dr. Walter H. Hellman on "The Solitary Christ" and an illustrated lecture by Horace T. Judson on "Art in Christian Worship."

Hundreds of Lutheran pastors from California, Hawaii, Arizona, Nevada, Oregon, Washington and other western states attended the conference.

Pastor Hansen will return to preach at 10 a.m. Sunday on "Faith Healing." The chapel choir directed by Miss Eileen Manning will sing an Epiphany selection. At the 9 a.m. Sunday school, the adult Bible class will discuss the creation story. The flannelgraph story on "The Life Of Christ" will continue.

Lutherans Attend Mission Rally Services Sunday

Representatives of the Faith Lutheran Church will attend the Area Mission Rally service to be conducted at Emmaus Lutheran Church, 840 South Almansor, Alhambra.

Official representatives of Faith Lutheran parish will include Rev. Armin Hesse, pastor; Rev. Oren H. Geiger, guest missioner; Kenneth Bock, friendship week chairman; Kenneth Euken, survey chairman; Otto Kirmsse, Jr., prayer chairman; J. Cranor Richter, publicity chairman; and Donald Frokjer, rally chairman.

Five such area Mission Rally services will be conducted Sunday afternoon in strategic locations in and around the metropolitan area, according to Kenneth Bock for the 106 congregations of The Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod who are conducting a simultaneous program of preaching-teaching-reading. The Alhambra rally is sponsored by 16 congregations.

Rally speaker will be the Rev. Theo. Raedeke of St. Louis, a member of the churchbody's Department of Evangelism. In this service, host pastors and guest missioners will be commissioned for the week's activities.

From Monday through Thursday mornings, Rev. Hesse and Guest Missioner Geiger will attend the Mission to Ministers Conference to be conducted each morning at Concordia Lutheran Church in Azusa.

Dr. Liechty To Address First Baptists

Dr. H. M. Liechty, Superintendent of Southern Baptist City Missions in the Los Angeles area, will be guest speaker at all services on Sunday, January 26, in the

H. M. Liechty

First Baptist Church of Sierra Madre, 270 West Sierra Madre Boulevard.

A graduate of New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, Dr. Liechty has been with Southern Baptists since 1920. Seventeen of these years were spent in the pastorate, and the years since 1943 spent in City Missions work in Florida, Maryland, and California.

Pastor Leroy Hux extends a cordial invitation to Baptists in Sierra Madre and others who have no church home to attend all the services of the church. Schedules of all regular services are found weekly in the "Sierra Madre News."

As a matter of enlightenment to those who have inquired and to all Sierra Madreans, Pastor Hux offers the following information. The local congregation, sponsored by the First Southern Baptist Church of Pasadena, is affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention. This is the largest group of cooperating Baptists in the world with 8,708-823 members in 30,834 churches in the United States alone. Work extends to Alaska, Hawaii, and around the world, in addition to the continental United States. The name "Southern" is not a territorial designation.

Jewish Center Holds Services

Rabbi Charles W. Steckel, assisted by Cantor Salo Blumenthal, will conduct Friday evening services on Jan. 24 at 8:30 p.m. at the Foothill Jewish Community Center of Temple Beth Israel.

The sermon for this week by Rabbi Steckel will be "The Thazar Theory" in the light of history. Hosts for the Oneg Shabbath, following the serveics will be Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Freinkel of Pasadena. Saturday morning services, to be conducted by Rabbi Steckel and Cantor Blumenthal, will commence at 9 a.m. The Junior Congregation will meet this morning for services at 10:15 a.m.

Presbyterians Install New Deacons Class

A new class of 14 deacons and deaconesses were installed last Sunday, Jan. 19 at the Trinity Presbyterian Church. This group, which will serve two years, was appointed at the regular congregational meeting held Friday, Jan. 17.

Deacons who will serve are Joseph H. Cummins, Russell Delahooke, Karl T. Johnson, Paul H. Mechler, William H. Pursley, Robert O. Skamser, and Allan R. Stearns.

Deaconesses are Mmes. Eileen Barnes, Susie Cummins, Nellie Huntington, Lou Prescott, Ellen Ruddock, Peggy Smyth, and Dorothy Taylor.

SUNDAY LESSON

The Lesson-Sermon in the Christian Science churches on Sunday will dwell on the nature of God as Truth, under the subject "Truth." The Golden Text is from the 25th Chapter of Isaiah (25:1) the power of God as truth and says, "O Lord, thou art my God; I will exalt thee, I will praise thy name; for thou hast done wonderful things; thy counsels of old are faithfulness and truth."

MISSION BELL

HOW OFTEN we say, "I wish he'd settle down." Or, "If she'd only get married and settle down." "I'm not ready to settle down," says a young person. Even adults say, "I don't know if I'm ready to settle down about faith." This is what made Christ remark that He had not found a greater faith in Israel than the settled, established, strengthened faith of the Centurion, whose servant Jesus healed (Matt. 8:1-13). This soldier understood authority and was aware of the demands of discipline. He trusted in Jesus and opened his life for the full flow of the Master's healing love.

TO BELIEVE in Christ is to find the new perspective of Christian love of which Luther spoke, "When we shall live in that day (eternity) we shall look with wonder on one another and say, shame that we were not of better cheer, braver, stronger and more joyful, to trust Christ and to endure all tribulations and crosses and persecutions, since this glory is so great!"

IF YOU THINK God's power is far distant, this is the day to hear Christ say, "Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If any man open, I will come in and sup with him, and he with Me."

TODAY'S THOUGHT — When you face the Son, your shadows of life fall behind you.

Crim to Preach At St. Luke's

Guest preacher at both the 9:15 a.m. and 11 a.m. services at St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Monrovia, on Sunday, Jan. 26 will be B. Shepherd Crim of the Church Divinity School of the Pacific, Berkeley, Calif.

B. Shepherd Crim is the first recipient of a scholarship from the foundation set up at the Divinity School in memory of Lt. Cmdr. Robert E. Wright for ex-navy men who will serve as navy chaplains for not less than three years after their ordination.

Lt. Cmdr. Wright served for many years on the Sierra Madre Planning Commission and was chairman of the commission at the time he entered the Navy during World War II. He died at the San Diego Naval Hospital in 1945.

SUNDAY SERVICE

"How To Use Religious Science" will be the subject of the Sunday Morning Worship Services, January 26th, at 9:15 and 11:00 a.m., by Dr. Ethel Barnhart, at the Santa Anita Church of Religious Science, 778 S. Rosemead Blvd., Pasadena.

Lamplighters Plan Birthday Party

Members of Lamplighters' fellowship, Sierra Madre Methodist Church, will celebrate their second anniversary with a "Happy Birthday" dinner at the home of Mildred and Harold Graf, 351 E. Hillcrest Blvd., Monrovia, at 7 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 25. A special program is being planned.

Assisting the Grafs will be Mary Alice and Oliver Accountius, Marvina and George Matthews, and Dorothy and Tom O'Rourke.

Bethany Holds Annual Business Meet

The Annual business meeting of Bethany Church will be held this Friday, at 6:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall. A potluck dinner will be followed by annual reports from all departments of the church. New church officers will be elected and plans announced for the year ahead. Indications are that new highs will be set for virtually every department. Attendance has been the largest in Bethany's history during the past few months.

The service of dedication was observed last Sunday for the following children and their parents: Darryl Stanley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Stranske; Mark Vernon Alexander, son of Dr. and Mrs. Merrill J. Alexander; and Kerry Lynn Treder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Treder.

BENEDICTION HELD

A Benediction and Holy Hour will be held at 8 p.m. at the Church of the Ascension on Friday, Jan. 31 with Rev. Harley Gibbs Smith Jr., and Rev. Harlan Weitzel officiating.

LEGAL NOTICES

ORDINANCE No. 593

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE, CALIFORNIA, AMENDING SECTION 10 OF ORDINANCE NO. 591 OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE PERTAINING TO THE COLLECTION OF GARBAGE AND RUBBISH AND ADDING A NEW SECTION THERETO TO BE KNOWN AS AND NUMBERED SECTION 5-A.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. That Section 10 of Ordinance No. 591 of the City of Sierra Madre, entitled "AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE, CALIFORNIA, PERTAINING TO THE COLLECTION OF GARBAGE, NON-COMBUSTIBLE REFUSE, TRIMMINGS AND COMBUSTIBLE MATERIALS, AND PROVIDING FOR THE COLLECTION THEREOF AND FOR FEES TO BE PAID FOR THE SERVICES IN CONNECTION WITH SUCH COLLECTIONS; AND DECLARING THE URGENCY HEREOF," adopted November 26, 1957, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"SECTION 10. The fees provided for herein shall be charged and billed as a monthly service charge. No credit shall be allowed for a portion of a month's service. The City Treasurer shall be responsible for all monies collected and shall deposit the same in the Water Fund of the City."

SECTION 2. That a new section shall be and is hereby added to said Ordinance No. 591 which shall be and is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"SECTION 5-A. The permit referred to in Section 5 hereof shall not be granted by the City Council until and unless the applicant therefor has fully complied with the following requirements, to wit:

(a) Permittee must provide and maintain in effect at all times during the period covered by such permit a policy of automobile liability and property-damage insurance applicable to all of the vehicles used by the applicant for the collection and disposal of garbage or rubbish with liability limits of $100,000.00 for one person and $300,000.00 for one accident and property-damage limit of $10,000.00 and shall provide the City Clerk with written evidence of the existence of such insurance.

(b All garbage or rubbish collected shall be conveyed in closed automobile trucks which shall be constructed and maintained so as to prevent the dropping or leaking of refuse therefrom and to prevent access thereto by flies or other insects.

(c) Permittee shall have painted and maintain on each side of the trucks used pursuant to said permit the name of the permittee and his business telephone number, such painting to be of a color contrasting sharply with the color of the trucks, the lettering in such name and number to be not less than three (3) inches in height and one-half (½) inch in width.

(d) All employees of permittee and others engaged in the work of collecting and disposing of garbage or rubbish shall be fingerprinted by the Police Department of said City and no such employee or person shall be permitted to perform any work under the terms of said permit if in the judgment of the Chief of Police the criminal background, if any, of such employee or person shall present a hazard to life or property in the City.

The granting of a permit hereunder shall not waive the requirement of an appropriate business license to operate in the City of Sierra Madre pursuant to any Business License Ordinance in effect at the time such permit is granted.

SECTION 3. The City Clerk shall certify to the adoption of this Ordinance and prior to the expiration of fifteen (15) days from the passage thereof, shall cause the same to be published once in the Sierra Madre News, a newspaper of general circulation, published and circulated in the City of Sierra Madre, and thirty (30) days from and after the final passage thereof of said Ordinance shall take effect and be in force.

(s) C. H. JAMES,
Mayor of the City of Sierra Madre.

Attest:

(s) L. MARIE WARFEL,
City Clerk.

I HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing Ordinance was adopted at a regular meeting of the City Council of the City of Sierra Madre, held on the 14th day of January, 1958, by the affirmative vote of at least three Councilmen, to wit:

AYES: Councilmen Harrison, Lisle Wood, James.

The Kulinary Kettle . . .

Mrs. Wilson's Recipes Have Authentic Japanese Flavor

By Toni Maurin
SY. 7-9634

After Mrs. Gardner P. (Babs) Wilson, 1435 Old House Road, had dined in one of our lovely Los Angeles Japanese restaurants she decided that she loved the food, but that she could ill afford to indulge herself too often.

The only other alternative was to learn how to prepare it herself. She started investigating Japanese restaurants, grocery stores, and talking to anyone that seemed to have any information on the subject. She finally evolved these recipes, which taste as close to the authentic food as she can remember it.

TERI YAKI
(Japanese barbecue sauce)
5 oz. soy sauce
3 cloves garlic, crushed
1 tsp. dry mustard
2 oz. peanut oil or vegetable oil
1 tsp. powdered ginger
1 cup cooking Sake (Japanese wine) or 1 tbs. molasses

Blend and stand at room temperature for 24 hours. Marinate chicken, cubed lamb or beef in it for three hours. Barbecue as usual.

SUKI YAKI
(Serves 4)
1½ lbs. eye of beef sliced paper thin
Small piece of suet
4 stalks celery sliced diagonally into ½-inch pieces
1 bunch green onions sliced into 2" pieces
1 lb. fresh mushrooms sliced thin
1 can water chestnuts sliced moderately thin
1 can drained bean sprouts
1 can bamboo shoots diced
1 can of yam noodles, rinsed and drained
1 lb. bean curd, cubed

These items will probably have to be purchased at Japanese grocery store.

You use this dish as your center piece and cook it at the table. Arrange all the meats and vegetables on a large platter and set on table until cooking time. In a large skillet—electric or with a burner—melt suet at a low temperature (260°F.)

Lightly brown meat and then add onions, celery and mushrooms in individual mounds over meat. Cook two or three minutes, taking caution not to intermix vegetables. Add the balance of vegetables in indiviual groups and pour Suki Yaki sauce over all. Cook five to 10 minutes more in open skillet, turning very carefully so as not to mix again. Serve each vegetable and meat separately with a mound of boiled rice in center of plate.

SUKI YAKI SAUCE
Blend together:
¼ cup soy sauce
2 tbs. cooking Saki
½ cup water
4 tbs. sugar

Warmed Saki wine is delicious served with this meal. Mrs. Wilson serves smoked fish, radishes, baby tomatoes and pickled artichoke hearts as a relish. She tops the meal off with fresh pineapple and almond cookies for dessert.

Of course, the meal is enhanced by the beauty of serving it on authentic Japanese dishes and using chop sticks instead of usual hardware.

MRS. WILSON has two daughters, Ann and Wendy, who are attending Westridge School in Pasadena. She finds time after chauffeuring the girls to and from school for all of her philanthropic activities.

She is secretary for the Pasadena Community Planning Counsel, she is past president and this year is acting as Case Committee chairman for the Altadena Family Service.

In addition, she finds time to be on the board of the Pasadena Home for the Aged. She is an avid gardener and homemaker as well. I asked her how she finds time to do justice to all of these different projects and she said if you are interested there always seems to be time and enough energy to go around.

Mr. Wilson is the manager of the Large Systems Division of Electro Data.

FAN DANCER . . . Huge fan adorns actress Marie McDonald at New York's Fan Ball benefit for Children's Cancer Fund of America.

Gas Co. Honors Old Employes

An aggregate of 1,187 years of public service to the community by 46 Southern Counties Gas Co. employes in this area was commemorated at a dinner Jan. 16 when the utility honored those in its employ for a minimum of 15 years.

Service pins were presented by the firm's president and general manager, Guy W. Wadsworth Jr., to those completing 15 years of service for the first time and those marking one of the major employment milestones—completion of 20, 25, 30, 35 and 40 years of service this year.

ALLEZ-OOP! . . . British TV actress Sheena Marshe, 22, practices judo hold on her husband, Douglas Robinson.

Pantorium Now In Third Year

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Delgatto are now celebrating their second anniversary as owners of the Pantorium Drive-In Cleaners, located at Sierra Madre Blvd. and Lima in the Peter Messe Shopping area.

The Delgattos have been residents of Sierra Madre for the past four years. They came here from Lake Geneva, Wis.

ARMY PROGRAM

Lt. Col. Spencer P. Edwards Jr. has been selected for an intensive six-month course in Spanish at the Army Language School in Monterey, Calif., under the Army's stepped-up program for overcoming a critical shortage of skilled linguists. Col. Edwards is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer P. Edward Sr., 576 Elm St., Sierra Madre.

Compare your spending with that of those earning the average income, $4,000-$5,000 (after taxes). They're overspending 2%

Where, Oh Where Does the $ Go?

The American family is central figure in the mystery of our age—the case of the disappearing dollar. Where it goes, few seem to know.

Consequently, about half of us are spending more than we earn. Of those with an income, after taxes, of between $2,000 and $6,000, more are in debt than are saving. The average deficit ranges from 12 per cent in the $2,000-$3,000 group to 4 per cent in the $3,000-$4,000 range, and 2 per cent in the $4,000-$6,000 bracket.

These figures, tabulated in the February Ladies' Home Journal, are based on an article from W. M. Kiplinger's magazine, Changing Times, and from surveys by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, Census Bureau, Department of Agriculture, and private researchers.

In the $2,000-$3,000 group, 27 per cent can save an average of $260. Fifty-six per cent are in debt an average of $666, but a large number, 17 per cent, break even. At the other end of the scale, where income is over $10,000, none break even. But 74 per cent save, 26 per cent owe. In the "average" income group, $4,000-$5,000, 52 per cent save, 45 per cent are in debt, 3 per cent break even.

However, the article warns, savings and deficit figures can be misleading. For instance, a planned withdrawal of savings will show up as overspending. Or any big buying on installments in a year will show up in red ink, but the next year, as it is paid off, you'll be in the black.

But where does the money go? In every income group, the largest percentage of income goes for food and housing. But as the income increases, the percentage decreases. The percentage of income used for such items as recreation and personal care stays fairly constant as income increases. The share for items such as medical care falls as income goes up. Other items decrease; for instance, the more you make, the more you give away.

One conclusion: "Every income group has its savers; good income helps, but so does good management."

Many Common Plants Are Poisonous If Eaten

By Roy O. Gilbert, L.A. County Health Officer

Many of the most common plants and shrubs that grow in Southern California are poisonous if eaten, or can cause a severe contact dermatitis in some individuals. Because fatalities in children have occasionally occurred after ingestion of some such poisonous substance, the question of legislation to eradicate certain poisonous plants and shrubs has arisen.

Several weeks ago a child in Oxnard died as the result of eating oleander leaves, and since that time the authorities of this city have outlawed these shrubs within the city limits. At best, however, such regulations are of limited value and offer no permanent solution to the general problem of this type of poisoning among children.

There will, for example, always be the ubiquitous toadstool, regardless of legislation. And children at play have been known to pretend that these pretty but often lethal fungi were ice cream cones.

INCLUDED among the more common plants and shrubs which can be fatal if eaten, or which may result in skin irritation through contact, are: amaryllis, iris, narcissus, wild garlic, the berries or seeds of common privet, Jerusalem cherry, lupine, holly, maidenhair ferns, the yew tree, castor bushes, delphinium, English ivy, larkspur, and poison oak. This incomplete list emphasizes the fact that oleander is only one of the deadly or at least highly dangerous flora that are extant.

The general problem of permitting poison to exist where young children live or play involves a sizeable number of tragic deaths. But plants do not rate a place near the top of the deadly list. Most children obtain their poisons from the family kitchen, laundry and medicine cabinet without ever going out into the garden.

The long term solution of how children may live safely surrounded by the poisons of the garden and those found inside the home lies in the education of adults to these dangers.

IN THE FINAL analysis, it is up to parents to impress upon their children that they must never eat or even taste the leaves, berries or fruits found in neighborhood yards, in parks, or in a wild state in the deserts and hills.

Furthermore, adult leaders who teach groups of children the fundamentals of survival without a regular food supply would do well to reconsider this type of education in the light of its inherent dangers.

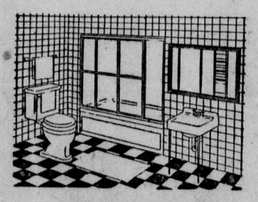

Legislation concerning poisonous flora can never take the place of good parental supervision in the matter of preventing poisoning among children.

It takes a clever man to make use of second-hand experience.

Art Exhibit At Caltech

The fourth in the current series of art exhibits at California Institute of Technology will be open to the public from Jan. 20 to Feb. 7.

"Prize Winning Paintings and Latest Works by Southern California Artists" is a collection of 25 works of local contemporary artists who have been awarded honors at Los Angeles Regional Exhibit, Los Angeles All-City Art Exhibition and the San Gabriel Valley Annual Exhibit.

Included in the exhibit are works by Leonard Edmondson, Richard Rubins, Ynez Johnston and Robert Frame.

The display, arranged by Mrs. Jennifer Ross, exhibits director of Caltech's Humanities division, is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 12 noon, in the lounge of Dabney Hall.

CAMELLIA GARDENS

Saturday, Jan. 18, marked the reopening to the public of the famous camellia gardens at the Huntington Library for the 1958 blooming season. Hours are from 1 to 4:30 every day except Mondays. Reservations are not necessary except for large groups.

Edison Co. Hits New Meter High

Southern California Edison Co. has passed the 1,500,000 mark in installed electric meters, it was announced by Paul J. Langlie, district manager.

In calling attention to the milestone, Langlie noted that the Edison Co. has been in a period of record expansion to provide electrical service for the huge numbers of new residents, businesses and industrial plants coming into Central and Southern California.

Recreational Spots Host To 15 Million in 1957

When the family gets ready to jump in the car for a day's outing, the same old question always pops up. "Where will we go this time?"

Nowadays the most popular answer is to head for one of the eight top recreational attractions in Southern California.

In 1957 more than 15 million people flocked to these places. About one-half of the visitors were from Southern California. They saw Santa Claus at Santa's Village, inexpressibly beautiful paintings at Forest Lawn, the rare Proboscis monkey at San Diego, the "Sport of Kings" at Hollywood Turf Club, glamorous movie stars at Farmer's Market, the playful trained whale at Marineland, the enchanting "Sleeping Beauty Castle" at Disneyland and gold panning at Knotts Berry Farm.

Nowhere in the world is there such a fun-filled playground as Southern Californians have right in their own backyard. And its creation is a comparatively new development with several of the biggest recreational parks being established only in the last few years.

AFTER SEARCHING all over the Arctic, Grady Carothers had to return to Santa's Village in the San Bernardino Mountains without Rudolph the red-nosed reindeer—couldn't find the famous animal. But Carothers did bring back another shipment of Arctic reindeer for Santa's Village, where they were put into service drawing the 20-passenger sleigh. It was the seventh Arctic trip for Carothers, who has the biggest reindeer herd in the nation.

One of the most breath-taking views in Southern California is the panorama of 23 cities and communities seen from the newly-opened Crucifixion Esplanade at Forest Lawn Memorial Park in Glendale. In the evening you can see the lights of Pasadena, North Hollywood, Monrovia, Los Angeles, Hollywood and the surrounding areas, while standing amid world-famous statuary which adorns the walks.

It's winter plowing time at Hollywood Turf Club. No, the race horses aren't being hitched up to the plow. Tractors are doing the job. The plowing and planting are being completed to insure that blooms will be at their peak for the California International Flower and Garden Show to be held at the "race track of the lakes and flowers" March 14 to 23.

Bubbles, the trained whale at Marineland, might be the next heavyweight boxing champion of the world. She has been trained to hit a punching bag which is lowered to the surface of the water from her feeding platform at the big oceanarium. Trouble is, her only punch is a left jab. That is, she can only punch the bag with her left flipper. She'll be a real contender when she learns to follow with a hard right.

THE TRADITIONAL list of imports, such as wool, beef and tennis players, is being augmented by wild dogs and parrots. Curator Kenton C. Lint of San Diezo Zoo went down under to collect new specimens and came up with a pair of golden-shouldered parrots and other rare birds never before seen in America. He also obtained a pair ern settings. But to retain the authentic frontier atmosphere, the calico saloon, of New Guinea wild dogs, which are being shipped via Australia and which have never been seen in the United States before.

What was wrong with the old West? There were plenty of cows, and plenty of cowboys, but not enough cowgirls. Knotts Berry Farm has changed all this by supplying eye-catching young ladies for photographers to snap each Saturday in the ghost town and other west-rinky-tink piano music and can-can dancers also are present.

Ever hear of Turkles? Nothing to do with turkeys at all. Turkles are tastly confections made of caramel, pecans and milk chocolate. The goodies are whipped up at the Candy Kitchen in the Farmer's Market. Oh yes, one other ingredient—plenty of calories.
